

“Clean Coaching for Leadership”

Accreditation – Full Details

Overview

Our complete Clean Coaching online training programme is ILM endorsed, which means we meet the standards for training and assessment as approved and verified by the Institute of Leadership and Management.

ILM is a government-funded awarding body for general and specialist management qualifications. It is the leadership arm of City & Guilds, which awards NVQ qualifications, recognised nationally and internationally. All of our courses are recognised by the ILM either as Endorsed or Development training. You can learn more about ILM through their website: www.i-l-m.com

Benefits of Accreditation

ILM Endorsed programmes are the benchmark of high quality, bespoke leadership and management development and are recognised by organisations & institutes worldwide.

An ILM Endorsed certificate “Clean Coaching for Leadership” marks your professional development with a credible stamp of approval from a prestigious, well known educational establishment

An ILM certificate can provide you with a pathway to a full qualification, if that is your objective. However, Endorsed and Development programmes do not have a national credit rating in the same way that ILM’s own qualifications convey.

In some cases, our programmes may be used as ‘recognised prior learning’ (RPL) for further ILM qualifications. Although Endorsed and Development programmes are non-regulated they have clearly defined Quality benchmarks which protect the integrity of all parties.

All applicants get free studying membership of ILM, offering access to a wealth of expert information, advice and support services to maximize their training experience and encourage CPD.

Finally, your profile will be added to the Clean Coaching website's listing of Accredited Clean Coaches to promote your status as an accredited Clean Coach

The Accreditation Process

The process for accreditation is thorough and involves both independent and external verification. However, we make it as easy as possible to gather the information and evidence required for your submission.

We recommend that candidates interested in working towards accreditation register with the ILM at the start of their training (we can do this for you). You will then gain student membership of the ILM and have access to their services. We will then assist you throughout each module of the training programme to compile the information required for submission with your application for accreditation once you have completed the programme.

Once registered with the ILM, as you complete our training modules, we will help you collect and collate all evidence for your accreditation as you go. During the programme, you are continually assessed after your recorded practice sessions and when you apply for accreditation your assessments will be formalised into a written report to highlight your level of competency in the critical areas required for Clean Coaching.

We will prompt you to gather evidence of your Clean Coaching experience during the programme, as both coach and coachee, including contacting other classmates to provide necessary confirmation for accreditation purposes.

To submit your application for accreditation, students must first complete all four modules of our complete Clean Coaching programme. Once you have finished the fourth training module with us, all you need to do is provide us with the balance of payment and two 1000 word written assignments, both of which can be worked towards whilst completing your training with us.

Your application for accreditation must be submitted within ONE year of completing your final training module with us, and THREE years from your initial registration with ILM.

Upon success, you will receive a certificate from the ILM indicating that you have successfully completed the programme and reached the required level of competency to be awarded the accreditation status of "Clean Coaching for Leadership".

Recognition of Prior Learning

If a student has already undertaken Clean Language training through another organisation, this may be recognised as prior learning and you may only need to complete Modules One and Three of our programme to be eligible to apply for full accreditation. It is expected that you would have completed a minimum of 36 hours of Clean Language assessed training elsewhere to correspond with the level of competency reached Modules Two and Four of our programme.

If you think you are eligible, please email coach@angeladunbar.co.uk in the first instance highlighting what training you have undertaken and who with.

If you have not completed sufficient Clean Language training, you may need to demonstrate your competence by providing a recording of a Clean Language session for the examiner to listen to and assess. There will be an additional fee of £100 for this service.

Fees

The total fee for accreditation is £250.00.

We recommend that you pay a deposit of £70.00 at the start of your training with us to register you with the ILM and get our support all through your learning for your application.

When you are ready to submit your application, the balance of £180.00 is due.

The fee includes ILM direct costs for certification and verification, arranging an independent assessment of your skills, checking your submission and processing your paperwork with the ILM.

Clean Coaching for Leadership: Summary of Accreditation requirements:

1. Complete all four modules of the Clean Coaching online training course (or Modules One and Three only, with evidence of 36 hours prior Clean Language training / recording for assessment)
2. Pass an assessment by an independent Clean Coaching verifier of a selected recorded coaching session*. (We will submit the appropriate recording from the sessions you will have recorded during the training).
3. Provide confirmation and a reference from a coachee (usually a fellow course participant) that you have completed 4 Clean Coaching sessions of at least 20 minutes each in length. **
4. Provide written confirmation from your coach (usually a fellow course participant) that you have completed 4 sessions as a coachee, each at least 20 minutes in length. **
5. Write a short essay that describes your coaching philosophy and how Clean Coaching impacts on your work. Guidance and examples are available. Maximum word count 1000 words, minimum 900.
6. Write a case study outlining how you have used a variety of Clean Coaching skills and techniques within a real coaching assignment. This could be a single session, a series of sessions, or across a variety of coachees as part of an organizational project. To protect confidentiality, please do not disclose names. Guidance and examples are available. Maximum word count 1000 words, minimum 900.

* Where your Clean Language training has been completed elsewhere you may also need to submit an extra recorded session demonstrating your Clean Coaching competence and capability.

 PLEASE NOTE you will have ample opportunity to work with suitable coaches during your training and practice hours will be accepted with the coach's written confirmation. If preferred, you may also submit your confirmation(s) and reference from appropriate people who were not course participants.
